Let's Communicate Cancer

Jackie Lewis BPharm, PhD, FRPharmSIP

I am a superintendent pharmacist director of my own award winning community pharmacy, Lewis Pharmacy, in Devon which I run with my husband Martyn. I have specialised in looking at how community pharmacy teams can help their patients on the cancer pathway and helped BOPA for many years. I have worked in many pharmacy disciplines, starting my career at the Royal Free Hospital in London, moving on to complete a PhD in targeting anti-cancer drugs at De Montfort University, then to WCPPE for a year, then on to formulation science in the Pharmaceutical Industry and eventually to purchasing my own pharmacy in Devon. I am delighted to have become a Fellow of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society in 2017.

Let's Communicate Cancer is the culmination of many years work poured into one e-learning hub and I am delighted Pfizer have given me the opportunity to achieve this.

Elaine Vickers, BSc, PhD

I have worked as a cancer educator since 2002 when I completed my PhD in Molecular Biology. I first became a science communicator at Cancer Research UK, where I supported their fundraisers and met with donors. But since 2011 I've been running my own company, Science Communicated Ltd (sciencecommunicated.co.uk).

I now spend all my time creating materials for seminars, study days and online teaching modules. I specialise in explaining cancer biology and the science behind new cancer treatments. I love trying to communicate science in ways that are understandable and accessible to non-scientists.

I'm the author of a book, "A Beginner's Guide to Targeted Cancer Treatments". And I am also the presenter of "Demystifying targeted cancer treatments", a free, online course hosted on Futurelearn.com commissioned by Cancer Research UK.

I have really enjoyed working with Jackie and the team on this project. I sincerely hope that my videos and illustrations are useful to everyone in community pharmacies who watch them.

Gina Speed MPharm PGDipClinPharm Pharm IP

I am a community pharmacist working at a family-owned independent pharmacy in North Wales. I have over 5 years experience working as an oncology pharmacist and independent prescriber in tertiary oncology centres; and now have a passion for improving cancer care in the community. I have thoroughly enjoyed working on this project which will start empowering the whole community pharmacy team to talk to their patients about cancer, with confidence.

John Murtagh

I am a retired Community Pharmacist who was Superintendent of a family group of 16 pharmacies. I was also chairman of Cumbria LPC.

I firmly believe that Community Pharmacy has a key role to play in the health and wellbeing of our communities, and that every member of the Pharmacy Team has a role to play.

This training package has been written to enhance and develop the skills already present in every pharmacy, from the medicines counter right through to the pharmacist.

Early diagnosis and screening of cancer will change people's lives, get involved and make a difference!!

Netty Cracknell

I am an experienced oncology pharmacist with a vast range of experience working within both the NHS and independent sectors for 16 years. I am currently in a national role as the Lead Cancer Pharmacist for Ramsay Healthcare UK.

I have a passion for education and training and have helped BOPA for many years using my knowledge of IT and my enthusiasm to support all pharmacy staff in all sectors to access a variety of information and training from the BOPA website

Lisa MacLeod MRPharmS MSc PgDip IP

I'm a lecturer in Clinical Pharmacy Practice with Robert Gordon University and a Specialist Oncology Pharmacist. I started working in community pharmacy at 15 and went on to become a community pharmacy manager and locum before spending 8 years as a specialist hospital pharmacist in cancer. Recently my career has come full circle and my current work involves new patient pathways for cancer patients including community pharmacy.

Through BOPA I met like-minded pharmacists like Jackie and the team and have been proud to help develop Let's Communicate Cancer. Many community pharmacy teams describe their desire to do more for cancer patients, but "know nothing about cancer", my hope is this comprehensive package will change that and establish community pharmacy as the first port of call for cancer patients.

Joseph Williams MPharm, MRPharmS, PG Dip GPP

I am a Specialist Cancer Pharmacist at The Christie NHS Foundation Trust and I have previously been a member of the Cancer teams at Royal Manchester Children's Hospital and University College London Hospitals with a specialist interest in prostate cancer, paediatrics and antimicrobial stewardship. I am now working towards my independent prescribing qualification within the colorectal cancer speciality.

I am Secretary of the BOPA Executive Committee and I am also Co-Chair of the BOPA Digital Sub-committee. I am passionate about improving digital education of our members and the wider oncology audience.

Chris Church

Hi I'm Chris a highly experienced director of photography specialising in long and short form film production both in the UK and overseas.

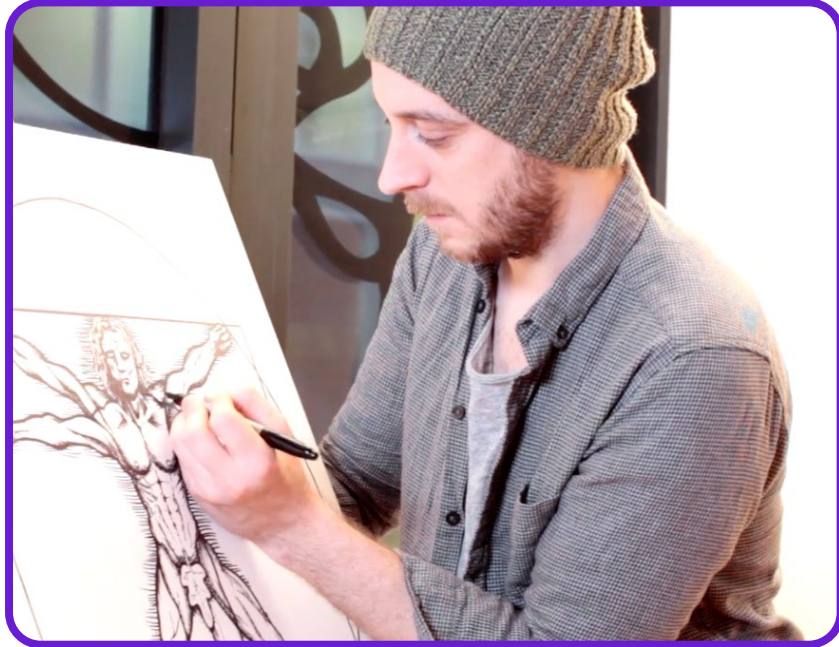

With twenty years experience in broadcast, corporate, marketing and branded content sectors I combine my technical knowledge, creative eye and passionate approach to deliver enriching and engaging content.

I shoot and own a RED Komodo and Canon EOS cinema series and have a thorough technical working knowledge of Sony Super 35mm sensor format cameras. In addition I also operate and multi sync the GoPro series and I'm a CAA registered drone operator with an air law PPL exam pass.

After spending nine years in broadcast in 2009 I decided to go freelance operating as a solo shooter and editor as well as working as part of a crew on larger productions and campaigns. I've been credited for my work as a director of photography and camera operator by BBC, The Travel Channel, TWO FOUR, TCEG, FORTY 1, Cancer Research UK, British Heart Foundation, Alton Towers, Nissan, as well as a variety of independent projects and commissions.

I look forward to working with you on your next production.

Matt Simpkin

I create 2D animations for a variety of clients. Whether you need to use an animated explainer video to showcase your product or service to potential customers, or you simply have a story that needs to be told in a more engaging format, I will use my experience in illustration and motion design to create a fully tailored piece that will get your key message across to your intended audience.
